OUR PARISH MISSION

We are a welcoming Christian family committed to Catholic values, responding to the call of Christ revealed in the diversity of human need. We practice a conscious, living, active faith in a community whose source of strength is the Eucharist.

Miraculous Prayer to the Little Flower

O Little flower of Jesus, ever consoling troubled souls with heavenly graces, in our unfailing intercessions I place my confident trust. From the heart of our Divine Savior, petition the blessings of which I stand in greatest need.....Shower upon me your promised roses of virtue and grace, Dear St. Therese, so that swiftly advancing in sanctity and perfect love of neighbor, I may someday receive the crown of life eternal.

Amen

The Anthropological Roots of Postmodern “Gender Theory”

A document from the Vatican published almost a year ago, “Male & Female He Created Them” (Feb. 2, 2019), discusses people with gender dysphoria (males who believe they are females and females who believe they are males); and addresses the presentation of so-called “gender theory” in educational institutions, a phenomenon which seems to be becoming more and more commonplace.

The Vatican document examines modern “gender theory” from the standpoint of Christian anthropology (i.e., the study of man/the human person from a Christian perspective); it also examines the anthropological implications of gender theory, and offers teachers a way to help young people to understand the truths of personhood from a Christian perspective, since young people are often confused by the media portrayals of topics such as “transgenderism.”

The Vatican document explains that much of the contemporary confusion regarding gender stems from a lack of a “clear and convincing anthropology that gives a meaningful foundation to sexuality and affectivity” (§30), and says that much of contemporary culture lacks an understanding of what it means to be a person.

The Vatican document teaches that gender theory, along with most other postmodern forms of “theory,” is based on a “dualistic anthropology” – which means that the body is conceived to be separate from the will, and therefore, gender identity is not necessarily determined by biological sex.

In this view, the will is thought able to determine the person’s identity, regardless of the sex with which the person was born. The body is thus “reduced to the status of [simple] matter” with no real relation to the soul, and the will “becomes an absolute that can manipulate the body as it pleases” (§22): This results in men identifying as women, and women as men – or even identifying as something in between a man and a woman.

In a Christian anthropology, the person is an integral whole. Body and soul are not two separate entities but two dimensions of the one person, the body “giving flesh to” the soul (§22). “The body reveals or speaks of the inner identity of the person . . . an identity which has been given her by the Creator” (§24).

The dualistic anthropology that characterizes postmodern thought is rooted in a false freedom that is disconnected from the reality of God-given sexuality, male and female. It does not spring from a truth that precedes and defines the person (i.e., a person’s God-given sex with which he or she is born – either male or female), but instead claims to give a person the freedom to construct truths of their own.

Those who promote “gender theory” – and teach it in universities (if you can believe this!) – claim that male and female sexes are mere “social constructs”; i.e., our sexual differences are merely thought up by people.

While we should have compassion toward those burdened with confusion over their own gender and treat them kindly, we must nonetheless speak the truth to them. (But for those who promote the theory that our gender differences are mere social constructs, I always say that a simple look in the mirror after a shower would wake them up to reality!)

PARISH-WIDE SURVEY coming: St. Therese Parish will be participating in a parish-wide survey about discipleship conducted by the Catholic Leadership Institute. Please help us by participating in this 10-15 minute survey. The survey will be available beginning Feb. 23 through March 23, and can be accessed online at www.disciplemakerindex.com; one must select the Archdiocese Milwaukee and our parish to take the survey.

The survey will ask you to reflect on your own spiritual growth and enable you to provide feedback on our parish's efforts to help you deepen your relationship with Christ. All responses will be confidential and the parish will only receive information and publish results about the community as whole. We are trying to get the highest response rate possible. This information will help Fr. Campbell and Fr. McDermott and our parish pastoral council as we plan for the future and try to help everyone in our parish to be authentic disciples of Christ.

If you don't use the computer or have online access you can complete the survey with a paper (hard) copy. Beginning Feb. 23, paper copies will be available at the entrances of the church after weekend and daily Masses, or you can obtain a paper copy at the parish office. Completed surveys on paper should be turned in at the parish office.

We will receive the results of the survey this spring/summer at which time we will share what we have learned with the entire parish.
